APPALLING LOSS OF LIFE IN TYPHOON

Ten Thousand Chinese Reported to Have Perished in Recent Storm.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 9.—The steamer Tartar, which arrived last night from the Orient brought the news from Shanghai that the loss of life of the natives of the island at the mouth of the Yangtze river as a result of the typhoon at the beginning of September was tremendous. The North China Daily News of Shanghai says:

"To the east of Tamangung two islands one called Yaowashwal, the other Shihlonsha, distant about 20 miles from Woo Sung, have suffered much from the typhoon, nearly all the inhabitants having been swept away. The islands have only been inhabited for a short time, as they are the result of recent formation and are not much above high water mark."

"It is reported that nearly 10,000 people have been drowned on these two islands and the smaller islands adjacent. Tamangung itself has not suffered much, being well above the high water mark."

The Shanghai papers say that the damage to the Canadian Pacific railway line Empress of Japan by the typhoon will necessitate the expenditure of $100,000 for repairs. During the storm the steamer Pechill, formerly the Rio Grande du Sol, foundered near the mouth of the Yangtze.

Her crew of 54 were saved by the German steamer Alenka, whose officers and crew did heroic work, but the Chinese were drowned.

and had been a resident of the city ever since. Her last husband had been dead 31 years. When he died she was left in poor circumstances and with her two daughters for whom to make a living. Later they were married.

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock the funeral will take place, conducted by Rev. R. W. Chiles, superintendent of Rescue Mission. The service will be conducted at the house. The interment will be in Oak Grove cemetery.

DEATH'S RELIEF

MRS. HAZLEWOOD SUCCEEDS AFTER SEVERAL WEEKS' ILLNESS.

Well-Known Character Was 78 Years Old and a Native of Missouri— Funeral Tomorrow

The passing of a familiar character came today in the death of Mrs. Evaline R. Hazlewood, who was known all over the city, and who had probably seen and talked to more strangers than any other person in Paducah. For many years she had begged on the streets and in the public buildings, as well as private residences, and hundreds of donations, and she had contributed to the forlorn-looking woman when she accosted them in hotel lobby or on the street. She made regular rounds daily, and the worst weather was hardly sufficient to keep her in doors. About her home she had met men from all parts of the country, and few of them refused to contribute when she asked them.

For the past ten weeks Mrs. Hazlewood had been ill from bowels trouble and general debility, and recently her mind became affected. She breathed her last at 2:12 this morning.

A box house, with two rooms, one a bed and sitting room combined, the other where she cooked and ate with one of her daughters, at 724 North Fifth street, in the edge of "Downtown," is where this quaint character lived. The house is poorly furnished and today the corpse was still on the bed covered with a sheet.

She would always approach with the question, "Can you assist me a little today?" If she was not heard or noticed, she would ask again and not leave until either helped or declined. She always carried a plain market basket. No one was asked for clothing or food, as it was money she wanted.

She always wore an ordinary black dress and a sunbonnet.

A number of people believed that she had money and it has been reported that she had property, but this morning that she was without a penny when she died. She will be laid away by this daughter, who carried a small insurance policy on her mother's life.

The deceased was 78 years of age and left two daughters, Mrs. Bertie Skeen and Mrs. Annie Coburn, the latter living with her. Several grandchildren and four great-grandchildren survive her. Mrs. Hazlewood had been married three times. All of her husbands are dead.

She was born at No. 2 Bond, near Charleston, Mo., and in 1870 moved to Kentucky, settling in Ballard county. She lived there a few years in good circumstances and from Ballard county she moved to Paducah.

Report Shows That $53,000 Has Been Collected in Back Taxes and Fines

Former City Clerk W. H. Patterson has finished his investigation of the city records for the purpose of ascertaining how much the fines and forfeitures and the back taxes collected by the city during the past five years amount to, and today filed his report with Secretary W. H. Pletcher, of the board of education.

He finds that during the past five years, and up to Oct. 1st, this year, the city has collected in fines and forfeitures $46,526, and in back taxes $7,409, a total of $53,935.

The board of education claims that the charter gives it the same percent of these fines and forfeitures and back taxes, as it gets of the regular taxes, etc., and intends to institute suit against the city of Paducah to collect what would have been the schools' share of this amount.

If it should win, it would be a good thing for the schools, as it would give them about $18,000, or $20,000, to spend for new buildings. Part of the last five years the city was in the third class, and the schools will, if they win, be entitled to 50 cents on the $100 valuation, and since the city has been in the second class, to thirty-five cents on the $100.

SMASH ON THE L. & N. KILLS TRAINMEN

Freight Trains Collide Near Chalchate Springs.

Crash Came on a Sharp Curve— $50,000 Property Loss to the Road.

ANOTHER ENGINEER IS HURT

Hopkinsville, Ky., Oct. 9.—A head-end collision of freight trains occurred on the Louisville and Nashville at Chalchate Springs, four miles north of this city, about 3 o'clock this morning in which Engineer James Hamby and Fireman L. E. Drake, both of the South bound train, were instantly killed.

W. J. Wood, engineer of the North bound train, was struck on the head by flying debris and badly bruised.

Hamby was forty years old, married, and resided in Nashville. He had been in the employ of the road for 15 years. Drake was twenty-three years old, unmarried, and also lived in Nashville.

The trains met on a sharp curve and both engines were considerably damaged, and four cars loaded with merchandise were crushed.

The property loss to the company was about $50,000.

A BAD GANG.

May Have Been Responsible For Prof. Roach's Death.

Fulton, Ky., Oct. 9.—The posse was out scouring for the two unknown white men, who assassinated Prof. E. W. Roach have as yet accomplished nothing and it is feared that this crime—one of the blackest ever committed in Fulton county—must go unavenged.

Detectives Hawkins, of Milan, Tenn., is here with his famous bloodhounds. The hounds trailed the assassins from the barn where Roach was shot, to the road, and, of course, to the toll there.

It is now generally believed that the assassination of Prof. Roach was the result of a well-laid and carefully executed plot. It is also believed that others than the two men who did the killing were connected in the plot.

Other families in this neighborhood have been intimidated by this gang, and should they know who committed the dastardly crime it is doubtful if they would appear as witnesses against them.

The officers have rigidly examined several of the young men who were heard to utter these threats, but no arrests have been made. These young men all belong to prominent families.

TROUBLE IN SIGHT FOR THE NOMINEE

Frank Eaker Has Enough In- structed Votes to Win.

Some of the Other Candidates for Coroner Are Not Satisfied— Talk of Contests.

LIVELY TIME IS EXPECTED

Frank Eaker has enough instructed votes to win for him the Democratic nomination for coroner on the first ballot Wednesday, when the county convention meets. He stated this morning that he had 21 instructed delegates and is confident that he will get a majority of the uninstructed. It is reported that Ed Eaker has the proxies of all the four uninstructed delegates in Rogers' precinct and will cast them for Frank Eaker. He is said to be getting other proxies.

Con Johnson does not believe that Mr. Eaker will be elected on the first ballot and says if he isn't that he will not be elected at all. He has but seven delegates. Twenty-nine votes elect.

Some of the other Democratic candidates, judging from their talk, do not seem to be satisfied with the way the precinct conventions were conducted in some places Saturday. One candidate claims that he had 16 supporters at one voting place and Eaker only two, and yet the instructions were given to Eaker. There is already talk of a contest over several of the precincts.

From present indications there will be trouble over the nomination, which may result in the defeat of the Democratic nominee, whoever he is.

Mr. M. Nance, for several years coroner, is running as an independent candidate, and expects to make quite a hole in the Democratic vote. The chances for the Republican nominee, Mr. Anderson Miller, to win in November are good, particularly since some of the Democratic candidates and their friends became so sore.

A lively time is expected in the convention Wednesday however, despite the apparent walk-over for Eaker, as all of the candidates have friends and they expect to be on hand.

STABBED AT CHURCH

HERBERT FOSTER PAINFULLY CUT BY WILLIAM MORRIS.

Trouble Occurred at Door of Method- ist Church at Massac Yester- day—Morris Arrested.

William Morris, age 17, stabbed Herbert Foster, aged 18, under the left arm near the head last night during the services at the Methodist church at Massac, but the wound fortunately is not serious. Morris was arrested this morning by Sheriff Lee Potter and was committed to jail pending trial, or executing bond.

Morris and a companion started to enter the church when Foster blocked the way. They asked him to let them pass and he refused. Morris then gave him a shove and Foster is said to have struck at him.

Morris pulled his knife and delivered one blow, the blade entering under the left arm. Little disturbance was raised and the congregation did not know there was any trouble until Morris and his companion walked in and told about it.

The injured boy was taken home and his wound examined. It is said to be painful but not necessarily serious. The Morris youth was unable to furnish bail, and his case is set for trial Saturday before Justice Gibson, of the Ninth magisterial district.

Both boys are well known in that section and the affair spread a great deal of sorrow among their friends.

BARDWELL BULLIES

Land in Wickliffe Jail For Cutting George Allen.

Wickliffe, Ky., Oct. 9.—Saturday night between 12 and 1 o'clock Geo. Allen, of Union City, Tenn., was attacked by two men, Cotton and John Grissom, just outside the waiting room of the I. C. station. Allen says that the men attempted to rob him, and when he resisted they drew their knives and commenced slashing him with them, and his face shows that they succeeded pretty well at this for it is literally hacked all over, some of the gashes being quite serious. They also struck him with a club fracturing the bone of his leg just below the knee and the limb may have to be amputated.

Mr. Allen was waiting for the M. & O. train. The Grissom boys live at Bardwell, and it is yet to be ascertained why they were at the depot.

It is alleged that the Grissoms made some serious threats as to what they would do "if that long-legged city nigger showed his face," but he brought them in and they are locked up charged with "cutting with intent to kill."

FALSE SWEARING MUST BE STOPPED

Judge Sanders to Issue a Number of Warrants for It.

A Number of Misdemeanor Cases On the Docket This Morning for Adjudication.

AND OTHER COURT NEWS

Police Judge D. L. Sanders is determined to stop false swearing in police court, and an incident in his court this morning is a very good illustration of his ability to size up the average defendant brought before him.

Mattie Pepper and Dora Pizer, colored, had fought and the Pizer woman was heard first. Her husband had been ill and unable to work, and several companions had come in to donate. Among them was the Pepper woman who donated a ten cent piece. The wife, did not like the Pepper woman coming around her husband and ordered her out of the house. The lawyer did not seem to have any desire to hasten, and was assisted out by the strong arms of his wife. Failing to appreciate such kindness the Pepper woman received for her slowness several jabs in the face and then her ire became aroused.

A short scuffle resulted and the two found themselves in police court this morning. The Pizer woman was substantiated in her story by several witnesses, and when it came time for the Pepper woman to testify the judge had a few words to say.

"Step around here if you want to testify," the judge commanded, "but I warn you in the outset to be careful what you say. I have several on my string now to issue false swearing warrants against, and if you don't be careful you may be added."

So she testified and declared the Pizer woman did not order her out of the house. She took no part in the fight but that of the defensive. The other witnesses were recalled. They substantiated the Pizer woman. "Now I told you to be careful of what you said," Judge Sanders remarked. "The moment I looked at you, I sized you up. I knew you were preparing to swear a lie, and you see what it has come to. Five dollars and costs against the Pepper woman and dismissed as to the other defendant," Judge Sanders stated, "and I will consider the matter of issuing a false swearing warrant against you."

Robert Maheffey, white, charged with grand larceny, was granted a continuance until Wednesday.

Levi Calhoun, colored, was held over under a $200 bond for false swearing.

Felix Merriweather, colored, for shop lifting, was held over to county court.

Other cases were:
 S. F. Art, white, drunk, $1 and costs; Doss Little, drunk, $1 and costs; Charles Bryant, colored, breach of the peace, $5 and costs; W. C. Gray, violating Sabbath, dismissed on motion of the prosecuting attorney; James Coleman, colored, breach of ordinance, left open; East Tennessee Telephone Co., breach of ordinance, continued; Ollie Hill, Henry Boyd, colored, breach of the peace, $5 and costs.

Miss Leona Watson, the prima donna of the Herald Square Opera company which is to appear at The Kentucky tonight in "Said Pasha," did the honors in a very pretty ceremony at Bowling Green, Ky., on the occasion of the company's date there last month. Messrs. Mayo and Taylor, managers of the Potter opera house there had just installed a new curtain in the house and extended an invitation by wire to Miss Watson to introduce the curtain the night of the company's engagement. The invitation was accepted and before a capacity audience the curtain was lowered for the first time between the first and second acts of "Said Pasha" and was introduced by Miss Watson in a very clever appropriate manner. Although she had just responded to a double encore on her solo "Cupid and I," (an introduced number), she was obliged to again appear before the curtain and acknowledge the applause of the audience.

JOURNAL OF LABOR SELECTED AGAIN

As Official Organ for the International Shipbuilders.

Editor Claude Johnson Returns From Chicago Convention—Inspector Gilsdorf Back From Electrical Workers' Convention.

MR. CHARLES HART HONORED.

Mr. Claude Johnson, editor of the Journal of Labor, returned yesterday from Chicago, where he attended the annual convention of the Shipwrights, Joiners and Caulkers, of America.

The Paducah Journal of Labor was selected as the official organ of the international organization for the next two years, which is most creditable to Editor Johnson, and shows that his paper has given the best of satisfaction during the year past as official journal of the organization.

The strike of local caulkers was endorsed by the international body, and it will have indefinite support, as the limit to strike benefits was removed, and hereafter the strike assessments will be in the form of a per capita tax, ten cents a month being added to the per capita tax to go to the strike fund, and all strikes and lockouts will be accorded the regular strike benefits as long as such strike and lockouts are in accordance with the constitution.

It was decided to hereafter hold conventions every two years instead of every year, and the next convention will be the first Monday in October, 1907, at Hay City, Mich.

There is no trouble among the caulkers and ship carpenters anywhere, it is reported, except in Paducah and Monticello, Wis.

The officers elected are as follows: President, Hugh Kirk, Elizabeth, N. J., re-elected.

First vice, J. A. Dufresne, Chicago, Second vice, Henry Wetzel, Milwaukee, re-elected.

Third vice, Wesley Glover, Hay City, Mich.

Secretary and treasurer, Thomas Hurst, Elizabethtown, N. J., re-elected.

Organizer for first district, including Great Lakes and Northwestern Waterways, T. W. Nutter, Chicago.

Organizer for third district, Robert Verrill, St. Louis.

Positions of organizers for the second, fourth and fifth districts left open for the executive committee to fill.

Attended Electrical Convention.

Mr. William Gilsdorf, city electrician, returned last night from Chicago after attending a three-day session of the annual convention of Municipal Electrical Inspectors of the United States.

The principal matter in discussion at the convention was the uniformity of wiring in cities. The inspectors desire to have the public, those unacquainted with wiring and its responsibilities, to look at the matter in the same light that the inspectors do.

"We, the inspectors," Mr. Gilsdorf explained, "are not to cause trouble expense and worry to the property owner or merchant, but to work for their good. We want the people to feel and understand that when we order a piece of wiring done over, it is for the benefit of the property owner and the city at large rather than for an insurance company. Many look at it in a different light, and it was the sense of the convention to educate the people up to this point make them see it is for their interest."

"To show you the absolute necessity of better wiring and better care in the handling of electricity, I will give you a few of the statistics in electricity. The statistics show that during the past ten years an average of three theatres a week burned. The deaths caused from fires, had wiring being the direct cause of many, and the indirect cause of some, is far greater than the public is aware. The total deaths annually from electricity and fires amounts to about 1,000. This may seem startling, but is nevertheless a fact.

THE ROOT OF THE MATTER

He Cured Himself of Serious Stomach Troubles, by Getting Down to First Principles.

A man of large affairs in one of our prominent eastern cities by too close attention to business, too little exercise and too many club dinners, finally began to pay nature's tax, levied in the form of chronic stomach trouble; the failure of his digestion brought about a nervous irritability making it impossible to apply himself to his daily business and finally deranging the kidneys and heart.

In his own words he says: "I consulted one physician after another and each one seemed to understand my case, but all the same they each failed to bring the return of my former digestion, appetite and vigor. For two years I went from pillar to post, from one sanitarium to another. I gave up smoking, I quit coffee and even renounced my daily glass or two of beer, without any marked improvement.

"Friends had often advised me to try a well known proprietary medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I had often perused the newspaper advertisements of the remedy but never took any stock in advertised medicines nor could believe a fifty-cent patent medicine would touch my case.

"To make a long story short I finally bought a couple of packages at the nearest drug store and took two or three tablets after each meal and occasionally a tablet between meals, when I felt my feeling of nausea or discomfort.

"I was surprised at the end of the first week to note a marked improvement in my appetite and general health and before the two packages were gone I was certain that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were going to cure completely and they did not disappoint me. I can eat and sleep and enjoy my coffee and cigar and no one would suppose I had ever known the horrors of dyspepsia.

"Out of friendly curiosity I wrote to the proprietors of the remedy asking for information as to what the tablets contained and they replied that the principal ingredients were: aspartic acid (government test), malt diastase and other natural digestives, which digest food regardless of the condition of the stomach."

The root of the matter is this, the digestive elements contained in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest the food, give the overworked stomach a chance to recuperate and the nerves and whole system to receive the nourishment which can only come from food. Stimulants and nerve tonics never give real strength, they give flimsy strength, invariably followed by reaction. Every drop of food, every nerve and tissue is manufactured from our daily food and if you can insure its prompt action and complete digestion by the regular use of so good and wholesome a remedy as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, you will have no need of nerve tonics and sanitariums.

Although Stuart's Tablets have been in the market only a few years, probably every drug store in the United States, Canada and Great Britain now sell them and consider them the most popular and successful of any preparation for stomach trouble.

"Oh, I will say that they are now just about as good as can be found in any city, the big ones not excepted."

I asked about with the inspectors from Chicago and from other cities and that that the improvement in Paducah is great and that it is not by others besides those directly connected with the town. The inclination of the property owners here to maintain the best class of wiring is good. I hope to live to see Paducah foremost in the rank of the best wired cities in the United States."

Inspector Gilsdorf is an energetic worker and wastes no time in putting his work into execution. This morning he started out inspecting again and hopes to have finished before the expiration of the six month given local property owners to perfect wiring.

Back From Blacksmith's Convention.

Mr. Charles Hart has returned from Chicago and St. Paul where he has been attending important meetings of the Blacksmith's Unions. After several days in Chicago, he went to St. Paul to attend the national convention of Blacksmith's Unions, and considerable business was transacted. Mr. Hart, who is an energetic and popular worker, was elected seventh vice-president of the National organization, showing further that Paducah holds an important place in the national organization of various unions. The next national convention will be at Milwaukee two years hence.

Plans for the concrete culvert on Caldwell street and for the sidewalks on West Jefferson street will be reviewed and advertised for contract for the following week, the bids to be opened at the meeting Wednesday a week.

ROUTED THE BULLY

But Deputy Marshal Saunders Humiliated the Bully Easily.

Deputy U. S. Marshal George Saunders, of Mayfield, an old G. A. R. veteran, handled a crowd of rowdies at Mayfield Saturday afternoon at the fair grounds in such a way that it would do credit to an entire detachment of soldiers.

The marshal was attending the fair when some drunken bully with a plank started in to lick the brass band. He wielded the plank with effect, and several heads were badly skinned, the music broken up and band scattered.

Deputy Marshal Saunders saw the trouble from a distance, and rushing up to the infuriated man seized the plank and wrested it away from him.

This only served to arouse more ire and the bully started in to lick the officer. Marshal Saunders was never fazed, however, and grabbing the stranger firmly started to lead him away and place him in the lock-up.

Some one suddenly shouted "Warning to the officer that some one was coming up in the rear with a knife, and like a flash the deputy marshal pulled his pistol and quickly intimated the crowd he wanted peace, and while he did not approve of an violence, would have to resort to it if the crowd did not make it convenient to move.

This was all that was necessary. Every one fell back and the officer with his charge marched undisturbed to the jail where the man was surrendered over to the municipal authorities.

$5,000 DAMAGES

In a Breach of Promise Suit at Clinton, Ky.

A case which has attracted a great deal of attention at Clinton, Ky., was a breach of promise suit of a Miss Herring against Dr. Turley, a prominent physician there. The young lady who had been the sweetheart of the doctor for a great many years, brought suit for $20,000 when he suddenly married another. During the trial of the case, which consumed several days, the court room was crowded with women, and the letters which passed between the two former lovers were read in evidence. During the trial Dr. Turley's wife sat beside him in the courtroom. The jury brought in a verdict awarding Miss Herring $5,000 damages.—Cairo Citizen.

Wrecking of Louisville Bank May Be Investigated By Federal Grand Jury

18 pl... It is believed in Louisville that the affairs of the Western National bank before its recent suspension and reopening there will be investigated by the federal grand jury which convened at Louisville today. For sometime it has been rumored that the federal government would find out who, if anyone, was responsible for the condition in which the bank was found, and if the facts justified, call someone to account. The Louisville Post says: "Two men whose visits are usually significant have been closed with Assistant District Attorney Thatcher at the Custom House for several days. They are P. J. Farrell, attorney for the Interstate Commerce commission and R. D. Garrett, national bank examiner for the United States.

"The visits of these two officials, coming as they do just prior to the impending of the United States grand jury, are believed to indicate that matters of more than usual importance will be presented to this body for consideration next week. "The presence of Bank Examiner Garrett has given rise to much speculation, but the real object of his visit here has not been disclosed. There are hints that he may be preparing to set on foot some inquiry into the failure of the Western National bank, but this is not verified. W. B. Smith, formerly of Paducah, was president of the bank a short time before the comptroller ordered it closed, but resigned about six weeks before the bank suspended.

ONE KIND OF FOLLY

Which is continually being exhibited is the habit of keeping money out of banks, where it would be safe, in homes and other places where it is not safe.

Did you ever think why a bank is safe? Because its business is to be safe. It is in business to guard money. Yet some people keep money in their homes where the chances of its being stolen or burned or lost are a hundred-fold more than they would be with a bank.

If you have any surplus money place it with this bank, where it would be safe. You can get it whenever you want it, and if it should stay here six months or a year it would earn interest at the rate of 4 per cent, compounding twice a year. One dollar will start an account.

Daily Thought.

"Man is responsible for the message which his conduct conveys to men."

Fiscal court up at Henderson is considering the advisability of providing drinking troughs along all the county roads at regular intervals. This might be a good plan in McCook. A little of the thousands of dollars wasted every year on the county roads might be invested in water troughs. The Gleaner thus explains the plan: "The fiscal court has under consideration the propriety of establishing watering troughs on the public roads of the county. It is to be hoped the court will consider the matter further and take favorable action on the matter. The idea is, at intervals of from five to eight miles, on the main thoroughfares of the county to bore wells and with windmills pump the water into troughs on the roadside. The cost would be small while the pleasure to man and beast would be great. If court will erect a few such watering places on the roads most traveled, it is believed their popularity would be such as to cause their establishment all over the county. Why not try a few?"

A humane society will probably be organized in Paducah today. It has long been needed, and will be a great institution if it is properly managed. There are already ample laws for the protection of dumb animals, but they are never enforced.

People daily see animals beaten and otherwise maltreated, but a line is

brutally flourishes among teamsters and owners of horses and mules and other animals is that private citizens are unwilling to go to the trouble to prosecute or appear as witnesses. A humane society will do a great deal towards eliminating this drawback, and if the members will take an active interest in the work, drivers and others who are in the habit of maltreating animals will learn to think twice before they commit such an offense. A humane society must be active, not passive, and it is to be hoped that the one organized in Paducah will fill the bill.

Commissioner John W. Yerkes, of Kentucky, is very modest in regard to the latest reports that he is to be given a cabinet position, but his friends are confident that his ability has been recognized by the president and know that a more able man could not be selected for a portfolio. Mr. Yerkes is an elegant gentleman, and one of the most popular Kentuckians in Washington, as well as one of the most popular in his own state.

Nearly every circuit judge in Kentucky regularly instructs the grand jury about the growing evil of carrying concealed weapons. There is too much weapon carrying in the state, although the penalty is less in many other states than in Kentucky. The trouble is that the law is not enforced. Enforce the law and there will be fewer "guns" carried and fewer killings.

Every man who wants to exercise the prerogatives of a free, honest citizen, should not forget to vote against the proposed constitutional amendment to return to the viva voce system of voting, and to get all his friends to vote against it. It is merely a political scheme to keep the state forever in the hands of the politicians.

A lot of the fellows who are holding up their hands in amazement and horror at the graft revelations in the insurance investigation, are doing the same thing, or allowing it done at home, on a small scale.

Those Democrats who doubted the efficacy of machine politics had a convincing example of it Saturday at the precinct convention to name delegates in the coroner's race.

Paducah has on a very dirty campaign. If half of what is said about either side is true, the people are in a bad fix whichever wins in the election.

SEVERAL HUNDRED

People Left Yesterday For Louisville

Over the Illinois Central.

The excursion ran over the I. C. from Mayfield to Louisville yesterday was well patronized from this end of the road.

At Mayfield, where the train was made up, about 90 bought tickets. Here a total of 285 tickets were sold and an additional car coupled to the train. Reports from all along the division show that every station added to the crowd.

The train arrived in Paducah at 10:32 and left about ten minutes later. The excursionists will have last night and today and until 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to remain in Louisville. The fare for the round trip was $2.

Competition Rifle Shoot.

Mr. J. B. Probst, secretary of the Paducah Rifle and Pistol club, will today write the St. John, Ky., rifle club to arrange a date for the competitive shoot to be held soon by the two clubs. The St. John boys think they can beat the Paducah club, and have challenged them. The regular standard American rules and target will be used. It is thought the date will be arranged for some time the latter part of the week or the first part of next week.

WOMAN RESCUED
FROM A LIFE OF MISERYWAS A LIVING SACRIFICE TO RAVAGES OF A PARASITE.

ALMOST A NERVOUS WRECK

A nervous wreck, almost on the verge of madness as a result of the misery she had endured because a secret enemy was gnawing at her vitals and saved from this condition, Mrs. Jacob Burbrink, living at Bassett, Ind., told a remarkable story yesterday.

Until yesterday afternoon she was the victim of a parasite. Now she is free from the ravages of the thing which measured over 69 feet in length. The monster tapeworm, for that is the name it is commonly given was left at Smith & Nagel's drugstore.

The story of the lady's startling case is best told in her own words: "I am 41 years old, and for the last five years my existence has been made miserable by stomach trouble. I was tired all the time. I could not sleep and many a night I tossed about my bed, glad to see the light of day again. But when I arose I felt more tired than I did when I went to bed. I had a vile taste in my mouth and my tongue was coated. When I tried to do my work, I was exhausted by the least exertion. My stomach and bowels were sore and bloated and the sight of food made me sick. Sometimes I was ravenously hungry, but even when I did manage to swallow food, it did not seem to do me any good. I had sharp pains in my back and side, and I could not stoop over without spots coming before my eyes. I had frequent attacks of dizziness and a splitting headache most of the time.

Became a Nervous Wreck.

"Finally I became a nervous wreck and life had few pleasures for me. Although I had been treated for other diseases, I became convinced that I was the victim of a tapeworm, and the thought of the thing almost drove me mad.

"I decided to try Payne's remedies and a week ago I bought some of the New Discovery medicine. I took it according to directions and today I had an attack of sickness.

"Within 15 minutes this awful thing was expelled from my system. I feel better already, and I know now what it was that had been draining my vitality and making me a nervous wreck. I cannot be too thankful for the relief I have found from the misery I suffered."

Payne's visit is drawing to a close. Call and see him or his assistants without further delay at Smith & Nagel's, Fourth and Broadway.

HORSE SHOW BOXES

WILL BE SOLD AT AUCTION THIS EVENING.

It Is Expected That Good Amounts

Will Be Paid For All of Them.

Tonight at 8 o'clock at the Palmer house the ten boxes for the horse show will be sold at public auction to the best bidder. Colonel Gus Singleton has been selected to act as auctioneer and he will start the sales promptly at the hour mentioned.

There promises to be some lively bidding among the society people for the boxes and they should bring in a very nice sum. The minimum price for the boxes is $10 each but they will bring a much higher figure than this in the estimation of the horse show promoters. The sale includes all three days of the show.

Tonight those who are to take part in the musical drill will practice at the baseball park, commencing promptly at 7 o'clock. This feature is under the direction of Dr. Victoris who has had considerable army experience. This will be a very pretty part of the program.

One of the most interesting features of the show will be the matinee on Friday afternoon. A special program for children has been arranged and the committee in charge is looking forward to this event with hopes that it will be the best of the three days' events.

Invitations have been extended to the Papal Delegate, Archbishop Falconio, Archbishop Mueller, of Cincinnati; Right Rev. William George McCloskey, Bishop of Louisville; Very Rev. James P. These dignitaries, with the representatives of the local press, are the only outside persons to whom invitations have been extended. The banquet will be served at 7 o'clock. The committee in charge of the toasts to be responded to is in capable hands.

Insurance Company Wins.

Circuit Judge W. M. Reed today rendered his decision in the re-bating case against the Interstate Life Insurance company, at Benton, and as forecast in The Sun, he decided in favor of the insurance company. The text of the decision has not been received.

There are several of these cases against the company in this county and the first case tried here will be a test case. There is said to be 625 similar cases against the company in the state. Judge Reed has apparently sustained the company in its claim that it knew nothing about the re-bating and was not responsible for it.

Churchill to Get Patrolman Job.

The regular monthly meeting of the police and fire commissioners will take place tonight in the mayor's office. There is no important business to come up. Commissioner Jno. Bond stated this morning that Patrolman Will Orr's place will be filled by the election of Moore Churchill, last extra and there will be an extra elected. He has about six applications for the place. Patrolman Orr resigned to enter the saloon business.

NEED A PHONOGRAPH

To Give Directions to Those Wanting Health Certificates.

Official life for the police lieutenant and captain and city clerk is anything but pleasant nowadays—all because of the quarantine established in the south and the issuance of health certificates at the city hall.

Applicants for certificates will invariably go into the captain's office and ask the captain or lieutenant, which ever may at the time be on duty, where the health officer's office is. They are directed to the council chamber, but to make sure they are on the right track, will first go to the clerk or possibly into the auditor's or treasurer's office, and there inquire.

Captain Woods, Lieutenant Harlan and Clerk Bailey have directed hundreds of people to the council chamber in the past few weeks, and are seriously considering the matter of employing a boy or securing a phonograph to give the desired directions.

Just a Few of Our Many Good Things

If you have called, you are already familiar with the sterling values which have attracted Paducah housewives to our store in such large numbers during the GREAT CLOSING OUT-AT-COST SALE. But we are by no means sold out.

Just to show you what values we are offering in American made china come in and see the handsomely decorated 35c salad bowl you can get for 18c. We have lots of these now, as our entire stock of them has been transferred from the wholesale to the retail department. But they won't last long at these prices. So come in early. Some cake plates in the same class which have always sold for 50c, now 33c.

We were unable to cancel the orders for many of the rare and beautiful pieces of hand painted French, Japanese and Austrian china (in sets and open stock, too,) which were especially imported for the benefit of discriminating buyers at Christmas time. As there are no exceptions to our sell-at-cost rule, you have an opportunity to buy for absolutely what we paid the manufacturer. And they are exclusive patterns, too. If you buy a set no one in Paducah or anywhere else will have one just like it. That's always a pleasant feeling to the woman who loves beautiful china. And remember that it's not "too expensive to use." Come in and see it, if only for the pleasure it will give you.

MARINE HOSPITAL

Reported That Those at Evansville and Louisville Will Be Abandoned.

Washington dispatches announced several days ago that Secretary Shaw had decided to abolish eleven of the twenty-three marine hospitals maintained by the government, but would not officially announce which were to be abandoned until congress had concurred in his recommendation.

It is given out, however, by prominent men in Washington who are supposed to be in close touch with such matters, that the hospitals at Evansville and Louisville, and possibly at Cincinnati, are among those to be abandoned. While there are probably more marine patients at these places than at such places as Cairo, the government has found that it can care for marine patients cheaper by contract with the big hospitals in such cities as Louisville and Cincinnati.

Eye Blown Out by a Torpedo.

Sturgis, Ky., Oct. 9.—The twelve-year-old daughter of Joseph Smith, a miner, was the victim of a horrible accident here. Her left eye was blown out by an exploding railroad torpedo. She had gotten hold of a torpedo in some way and placed it on a piece of iron and struck it with a hammer. It exploded, blowing her eye from her head.

BLOCKADED.

Every Household in Paducah Should Know How to Resist It.

The back aches because the kidneys are blocked.

Help the kidneys with their work. The back will ache no more.

Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

It's the best proof, for it comes from Paducah.

J. W. Wootan, the well known woodworker, now retired, residing at 1403 Burnett street, says: "I have a high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills because they do just what is claimed for them. I have had kidney trouble more or less for fifteen years. After trying a number of remedies that gave me very little relief, if any, I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Alvey & List's drug store and began to take them as directed. I found them to be the very thing for my trouble. In a few days I noticed a great change in my condition. Before taking the pills my rest at night was greatly disturbed, but now I can go to bed and rest as peacefully as anyone. I give all the credit for this to Doan's Kidney Pills."

GOOD INCREASE IN SCHOOL ENROLLMENT

Due to Scarlet Fever Scars—Biggest High School in Years Expected Later On.

THE OUTLOOK IS ENCOURAGING

Figures for the enrollment in the public schools for the first month of the fall term show an increase over the same month last year, a very gratifying fact to the school authorities. There are several features about the enrollment and attendance that are even more encouraging to the authorities than the fact that the total enrollment is better.

During the month of September the total enrollment showed 3164 pupils. Last year during the same month the total enrollment was 3130 making an increase over last year of 34 pupils.

The figures show that there is an increase in the white schools in enrollment of 114 and a decrease in colored enrollment of 78.

The increase in regular daily attendance comes from the boys, a very gratifying fact in the eyes of the teachers. Generally the daily average attendance is better among the girls but since the athletic and social features have been added in the schools the boys as well as girls take a livelier interest in it.

The average total daily attendance however is not equal to that of last year because of the scarlet fever scare and other matters which had a tendency to reduce the attendance.

At the close of the first term this year the High school will be larger than any previous High school, having possibly over 190 enrolled.

At present the enrollment is 135 but 50 pupils from the eighth grades will come in during the middle of the season, at the close of the first term, which will swell the enrollment to nearly two hundred. Last year the total enrollment at the close of school was 165.

BLUES WON.

In a Fast Game of Ball at Metropolis Yesterday.

The ball game at Metropolis yesterday between the Blues of that place and the crack team from Princeton, Ky., was witnessed by a large crowd many local lovers of the game going down to see it. Metropolis won by a score of 5 to 3. Dick Irahile, the local league twirler, was in the box for Metropolis and was in fine form, letting Princeton down with two clean hits. Had it not been for a wild throw over first base the visitors would have made but one run. Irahile is now being called the best ever by the Metropolis fans and he will probably remain there all week as their guest. Eddie Bralich caught for Princeton.

Saturday and Sunday two games will be played by the Blues and the strong independent team from Carrierville, Ill., at Metropolis. The Blues have beaten Carrierville twice and lost one game. The Carrierville fans are not satisfied and have strengthened for the games. Bralich will pitch one of the games for the Blues and Dye the other.

Freight Cars Derailed.

Several freight cars were derailed on the L. and N. road between Nortonville and Guthrie, Ky., yesterday and last night all passenger trains over the L. and N. road were detained over the L. C. from Nortonville to Central City. The wreck will be cleared today and the regular schedule maintained.

Raffles, The Amateur Cracksman

By E. W. HORNING

NINE POINTS of THE LAW

No. 5 of the Series

"Well," he growled, "I suppose it can't be helped. Don't know why he couldn't come and have his dinner first. Like to see the devil himself. I'd go with you to dinner. It's a full skin ticket, if you ask me. Well, we must just dine without him, and he'll have to buy his pig in a poke after all. Mind touching that bell? Suppose you know what he came to see me about? Sorry I shan't see him again, for his own sake. I liked Raffles—took to him amazingly. He's a cynic. Like cynics, tho' myself. Hank had form of his mother or his aunt, and I hope she will go and kick the bucket."

I connect these specimens of his conversation, though they were doubtless detached at the time and interspersed with remarks of mine here and there. They filled the interval until dinner was served, and they gave me an impression of the man which his every subsequent utterance confirmed. It was an impression which did away with all remorse for my treacherous presence at his table. He was that terrible type, the silly cynic, his aim a caustic commentary on all things and all men, his achievement mere vulgar irreverence and unintelligent scorn. I had bred and I had learned, he had (on his own showing) thrust into fortune on a rise in hand. Yet cunning he possessed as well as malice, and he chuckled till he choked over the misfortune of less astute speculators in the same town. Even now I cannot feel much compunction for my behavior to the Hon. J. M. Crages, M. L. C.

But never shall I forget the private agonies of the situation, the listening to my host with one ear and for Raffles with the other! Once I heard him, though the rooms were not divided by the old fashioned folding doors, and, though the door that did divide them was not only shut, but richly curtained, I could have sworn I heard him once. I spilled my wine and laughed at the top of my voice at some coarse saucy of my host's, and I heard nothing more, though my ears were on the strain. But later, to my horror, when the waiter had finally withdrawn, Crages himself sprang up and rushed to his bedroom without a word. I sat like stone till he returned.

"Thought I heard a door go," he said. "Must have been mistaken—imagination—gave me quite a turn. Raffles told you priceless treasure I got in there?"

It was the picture at last. Up to this point I had kept him to Queensland and the making of his pile. I tried to get him back there now, but in vain. He was reinvigorated of his great, ill gotten possession. I said that Raffles had just mentioned it, and that set him off. With the confidential garrulity of a man who had dined too well he plunged into his darling topic, and I looked past him at the clock. It was only a quarter to 10.

In common decency I could not go yet, so there I sat (two were still at port) and learned what had originally bred my host's ambition to possess what he was pleased to call a "real, genuine, twin screw, double funneled, copper bottom oil master." It was to "go one better" than some rival legislator of plectoral proclivities. But even an epitome of his monologue would be so much weariness. Suffice it that it ended inevitably in the invitation I had dreaded all the evening.

"But you must see it. Next room. This way."

"Isn't it packed up?" I inquired hastily.

"Lock and key. That's all."

"Pray don't trouble," I urged.

"Trouble be hanged!" said he.

"Come along."

And all at once I saw that to resist him further would be to heap suspicion upon myself against the moment of impending discovery. I therefore followed him into his bedroom without further protest and suffered him first to show me the iron map case, which stood in one corner. He took a crafty pride in this receptacle, and I thought he would never cease delecting on its innocent appearance and its Chubb's lock. It seemed an interminable age before the key was in the latter. Then the ward clicked, and my pulse stood still.

"My Jove!" I cried next instant.

"The canvas was in its place among the maps!"

"Thought it would knock you," said Crages, drawing it out and unrolling it for my benefit. "Grand thing, isn't it? Wouldn't think it had been painted 230 years? It has, though—my word! Old Johnson's face will be a treat when he sees it; won't go braggart about his pictures much more. Why, this one's worth all the pictures in the colony of Queensland put together; worth 150,000, my boy—and I got it for five!"

He dug me in the ribs and seemed in the mood for further confidences. My appearance checked him, and he rubbed his hands.

"If you take it like that," he chuckled, "how will old Johnson take it? Go out and hang himself to his own picture rods, I hope!" Heaven knows what I contrived to say at last. Struck speechless first by my relief, I continued silent from a very different cause. A new tangle of emotions tied my tongue. Raffles had failed! Raffles had failed! Could I not succeed? Was it too late? Was there no way?

"So long," he said, taking a last look at the canvas before he rolled it up. "So long till we get to Brisbane."

The flutter I was in as he closed the case!

"For the last time," he went on as his keys jingled back into his pocket. "It goes straight into the strong room on board."

For the last time! If I could but send him out to Australia with only his legitimate contents in his precious map case! If I could but succeed where Raffles had failed!

We returned to the other room. I have no notion how long he talked or what about. Whisky and soda water became the order of the hour. I scarcely touched it, but he drank copiously, and before I left him incoherent. And the last train for Escher was the 11:50 out of Waterloo.

I took a hansom to my rooms. I was back at the hotel in thirteen minutes. I walked upstairs. The corridor was empty. I stood an instant on the sitting room threshold, heard a snore within and admitted myself softly with my gentleman's own key, which it had been a very simple matter to take away with me.

Crages never moved. He was stretched on the sofa fast asleep, but not fast enough for me. I saturated my handkerchief with the chloroform I had brought and held it gently over his mouth. Two or three stertorous breaths, and the man was a log.

I removed the handkerchief. I extracted the keys from his pocket. In less than five minutes I put them back after winding the picture about my body beneath my inexpressible cape. I took some whisky and soda water before I went.

The train was easily caught—so easily that I trembled for ten minutes in my first class smoking carriage, in terror of every footstep on the platform, in unreasonable terror till the end. Then at last I sat back and lit a cigarette, and the lights of Waterloo reeled out behind.

Some men were returning from the theater. I can recall their conversation even now. They were disappointed with the piece they had seen. It was one of the later Savoy operas, and they spoke wistfully of the days of "Pinafore" and "Patience." One of them hummed a stave, and there was an argument as to whether the air was out of "Patience" or "The Mikado."

They all got out at Stratford, and I was alone with my triumph for a few intoxicating minutes. To think that I had succeeded where Raffles had failed! Of all our adventures this was

How to Get Well.

Every organ of the body is directly connected with the brain by nerves. The nerve cells in the brain generate nerve force—power—and send it to the organ through these nerves, and this nerve-force gives life and action. The organs work perfectly when there is sufficient nerve power. Lack of nerve force weakens the action of an organ and it works imperfectly—becomes sick.

Two-thirds of all sickness is thus due to weak or deranged nerves; it is therefore advisable to take Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve, because it makes nerve energy.

When you cure the nerves you remove the cause, and that's the way to get well.

"Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve" cured me of nervous prostration after every other effort had failed to give me relief. My trouble seemed to begin with a general loss of strength and a breaking down of the nervous system. I suffered from headache, constipation and fluttering or palpitation of the heart. My appetite failed and I was so nervous and restless that I could not sleep at night. My husband, who is a druggist, brought me a bottle of Nerve. It helped me from the start, and I continued using it until I had taken six bottles. My health was completely restored."

the first in which I had played a commanding part, and of them all this was infinitely the least discreditable. It left me without a consolation, quail. I had but robbed a robber when all was said. And I had done it myself, single handed—ipse egnem!

I pictured Raffles, his surprise and delight. He would think a little more of me in future. And that future—it should be different. We had £2,000 apiece—surely enough to start afresh as honest men—and all through me!

In a glow I sprang out at Escher and took the one belated cab that was waiting under the bridge. In a perfect fever I beheld Broom Hall, with the lower story still lit up, and saw the front door open as I climbed the steps.

"Thought it was you," said Raffles cheerily. "It's all right. There's a bed for you. Sir Bernard's sitting up to shake your hand."

His good spirits disappointed me. But I knew the man. He was one of those who wear their brightest smile in the blackest hour. I knew him too well by this time to be deceived.

"I've got it!" I cried in his ear. "I've got it!"

"Got what?" he asked me, stepping back.

"The picture!"

"What?"

"The picture! He showed it me. You had to go without it. I saw that. So I determined to have it. And here it is."

"Let's see," said Raffles grimly.

I threw off my cape and unwound the canvas from about my body. While I was doing so an untidy old gentleman made his appearance in the hall and stood looking on with raised eyebrows.

"Looks pretty fresh for an old master, doesn't she?" said Raffles.

His tone was strange. I could only suppose that he was jealous of my success.

"So Crages said. I hardly looked at it myself."

"Well, look now; look closely. By above, I must have faked her better than I thought!"

"It's a copy!" I cried.

"It's the copy," he answered. "It's the copy I've been tearing all over the country to procure. It's the copy I faked back and front, so that, on your own showing, it imposed upon Crages and might have made him happy for life. And you go and rob him of that!"

I could not speak.

"How did you manage it?" inquired Sir Bernard Debenham.

"Have you killed him?" asked Raffles sardonically.

I did not look at him. I turned to Sir Bernard Debenham, and to him I told my story, hoarsely, excitedly, for it was all that I could do to keep from breaking down. But as I spoke I became calmer, and I finished in mere bitterness, with the remark that another time Raffles might tell me what he meant to do.

"Another time," he cried instantly.

"My dear Rummy, you speak as though we were going to turn burglars for a living!"

"I trust you won't," said Sir Bernard, smiling. "For you are certainly two very daring young men. Let us hope our friend from Queensland will do us he said and not open his map case till he gets back there. He will find my check awaiting him, and I shall be very much surprised if he troubles any of us again."

Raffles and I did not speak till I was in the room which had been prepared for me. Nor was I anxious to do so then. But he followed me and took my hand.

"Rummy," said he, "don't you be hard on a fellow! I was in the queue of a hurry and didn't know that I should ever get what I wanted in time, and that's a fact. But it serves me right that you should have gone and nudged one of the best things I ever did. As for your handwork, old chap, you won't mind my saying that I didn't think you had it in you. In future!"

"Don't talk to me about the future!" I cried. "I hate the whole thing! I'm going to chuck it up!"

"So am I," said Raffles, "when I've made my pile."

I. C. ENGINEER COMMENDED.

Engineer Henry Frisz, formerly of Paducah, Called Before Officials.

Engineer Henry Frisz, who for many years resided in Paducah and has many friends here, has won the commendation of the Illinois Central road by his heroic act Thursday in sticking to his post and stopping his train when both driving rods of his engine broke and pounded through and demolished his cab, wrecking the steam gauge, and causing the engineer to be left in a cab of scalding steam.

Although badly burned, Engineer Frisz remained and stopped his engine and prevented what would have been a disastrous wreck.

Saturday Engineer Frisz was called before the Illinois Central officials at Louisville and warmly commended for his heroism, something of which any engineer or other employee of the road might well feel proud.

Saved His Life.

J. W. Davenport, Wingo, Ky., writes, June 14, 1902: "I want to tell you I believe Ballard's Snow Liniment saved my life. I was under the treatment of two doctors and they told me one of my lungs was badly affected. I also had a lump on my side. I don't think that I could have lived over two months longer. I was induced by a friend to try Ballard's Snow Liniment. The first application gave me great relief; two fifty cent bottles cured me sound and well."

It is a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to suffering humanity. Sold by Alvey & List.

W. O. W. UNVEILING.

About 100 From Paducah Visited Metropolis Yesterday.

About a hundred Woodmen of the World including a part of the uniform rank, went down from Paducah yesterday. They were met at the boat by Metropolis Woodmen and the Metropolis concert band. A line was formed on First street and they marched to the cemetery. The monument of Harry Hingley was unveiled.

Sunday a week there will be an unveiling at Mt. Kanton by Evergreen Circle and the last Sunday in the month there will be an unveiling at Huckleville. Both will be big events and many local Woodmen will attend. There will be basket dinners at each place.

Last Hope Vanished.

When leading physicians said that W. M. Smith, of Pekin, Ia., had incurable consumption, his last hope vanished; but Dr. King's New Discovery kept him out of his grave. He says: "This great specific completely cured me, and saved my life. Since then, I have used it for over 10 years, and consider it a marvelous throat and lung cure. A strictly scientific cure for Coughs, Sore Throats or Colds; sure preventive of Pneumonia. Guaranteed, 50c and $1.00 bottles at W. B. McPherson's drug store."

TO CLEAN THE MARKET.

The Pad "Housecleaning" Starts at Once and Lasts Three Days.

Market Master Frank Smedley will tomorrow begin his fall "housecleaning" at the market house. He will have several men at work and divest the building of all cob-webs, fly specks and other dirt. At the end of the operation Officer Smedley expects to have the building look just as new as it did when opened a few months ago.

The Rest Doctor.

Rev. H. C. Horton, Sulphur Springs, Tex., writes, July 19, 1902: "I have used in my family Ballard's Snow Liniment and Horehound Syrup, and they have proved certainly satisfactory. The liniment is the best we have ever used for headache and pains. The cough syrup has been our doctor for the last eight years."

Involving the Tennessee Central

It is announced at Nashville that there is no longer any doubt of the Illinois Central and Southern railroads having secured the Tennessee Central railroad, and that the Illinois Central will soon be entering Nashville over its own tracks. It is expected that official announcement will be made this week.

The Banner says: It is only a question of weeks when two big railroad systems that have never before touched, this territory will have their locomotives and trains steaming into Nashville. The coming of the Illinois Central and Southern to Nashville is the greatest event for this city since the Civil war.

Nashville parties who have recently returned from a business trip to New York city, state that while they were in the metropolis they were authoritatively assured that the deal between the Illinois Central, Southern and Tennessee Central railroads, which has recently been reported, is a certainty.

It was further learned that it was expected to officially make public the necessary details of this deal, at sometime between the 10th and 15th of October.

As has been published, this deal will result in the Illinois Central getting possession of the Tennessee Central from Nashville to Hopkinsville, while the Southern will operate the Tennessee Central from Nashville to Harrison, the Eastern terminus.

L. C. Buys Birmingham Terminals.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 9.—Representatives of the Illinois Central Railroad company Saturday bought centrally located property in Birmingham for which $130,000 was paid. The property lies between First and Second avenues, and will be used for terminal purposes by the Illinois Central, which will soon extend its lines into this city.

Now Send Out a Packet Car.

The Tennessee Central and the Illinois Central railroads have just put on a daily package car between St. Louis and Nashville, via Hopkinsville. The Tennessee Central has for sometime handled quite a large amount of carload shipments from the west through St. Louis in conjunction with the Illinois Central, but heretofore has not handled any package freight.

MANY SERVICES
HELD YESTERDAY

Yom Kippur Began at Sunset and Ends at Sunset Today.

New Church at Murray Dedicated—Rev. Eshman Preaches at Cumberland Church.

GOOD CONGREGATIONS RULE

Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, and great national fast day of the Jewish people, began yesterday at sunset and continues until sunset this evening. It has been observed in all synagogues by all day services, a custom that is common to all the various religious bodies among the Jews. It is the only day of the year that is so marked, and most holy of all Jewish anniversaries.

The practice of its observance dates back to Biblical times, the first record being found in the Book of Leviticus, where it is said to have been inaugurated among the people of Israel under the direction of Moses. Even in the most reformed Jewish congregations, represented by that of Adath Israel in Louisville, the day is held to be of great significance and is most strictly kept.

Last evening a very beautiful and elaborate service was held at Temple Israel beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The musical program was very fine. Mrs. James Weller sang "Day of God," the ancient Jewish hymn, and Mrs. David Flournoy "Pearl, Not O Israel." Miss Ha Hart and Mr. Eumet Bandy rendered a duet. A sermon appropriate to the occasion was preached by Rabbi Lovitch.

All day service was held today beginning at 10 a. m. and closing at sunset, and was marked by especial beauty and solemnity.

The new Christian church at Murray, Ky., was dedicated yesterday with appropriate ceremonies. Elder Z. T. Sweeney, of Columbus, Ind., a minister of national reputation, delivered the dedicatory sermon. There were many visitors present for the occasion. It is intended that a protracted meeting will consecrate the church beginning immediately after the dedication.

The new building is of pressed brick and stone, with slate roof. The towers are 100 and 60 feet high, respectively. The house is 40 by 35 feet and contains, besides auditorium, Sunday school room, study, class rooms, baptistry, etc. A balcony and basement will be completed later. The entire cost will approximate $20,000.

Rev. E. H. Eshman, of Pulaski, Tenn., who has arrived to take charge of the Cumberland Presbyterian church of this city until January, preached yesterday morning and night. Dr. Eshman is a strong preacher and a talented man, and his sermons yesterday were heard with interest. He will bring his family here later.

The formal dedication of the handsome new parish house of Grace Episcopal church will take place next Sunday morning when the Right Reverend Charles E. Woodcock, of Louisville, will be present for the occasion. In the afternoon at 4:30 the rite of confirmation will be administered by Bishop Woodcock to a class. There will be a reception given at the parish house on Monday evening to which all the friends of the parish are invited.

The new parish house is a most complete and commodious structure and is a credit to the congregation and its rector Rev. D. C. Wright, who has labored faithfully for it.

Rev. J. D. Walsh, of Louisville, presiding elder of the Louisville district of the M. E. church, preached at the Mechanicsburg Methodist church yesterday morning and night, inaugurating the new conference year. He went to Hickory Grove today to hold quarterly conference there and will return and preach here Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Rev. J. C. Cantrell, the new minister for the Mechanicsburg charge and Hickory Grove, will reside at Hickory Grove. He preached there yesterday.

Rev. E. Bourquin, of Hertzville, Ind., filled the pulpit of the German Evangelical church yesterday morning. The service was in German and the theme was "God's Goodness and Our Praise." The newly elected congregational officers were, also, installed at this service.

Dr. Bourquin is the father of Rev. Wm. Bourquin, pastor of the church, and is visiting his son. He is an able preacher.

Rev. V. Pinkerton, of the First Christian church, filled his pulpit yesterday for the last time until December, as he leaves this week to assist in revival work in Ohio and Pennsylvania and will be absent until the last of November. A quartette from Metropolis sang at this church.

A special collection was taken yesterday morning at the Broadway Methodist church in the interest of the Bible work and educational work. This was outside of the regular conference assessments paid by this church on these two important features of the conference work.

There were three additions to the East Baptist church yesterday. Two excellent services were held, attended by good congregations. Rev. T. E. Ritchey, the pastor, will begin a protracted meeting at this church on next Sunday.

A Sunday school rally was held at the First Presbyterian church last night. It was a well-attended and interesting occasion. There have been no evening services at this church during the warm weather.

The board of missions of the Memphis conference of the M. E. church, South, pays $1,100 each year for missionary work in the bounds of this city alone.

Cand dates for the ministry have decreased, as shown in the official reports of churches for ten years, as follows:

This is a decline of 931 candidates, 140 licenses and 60 ordinations. This is serious, when the growth of the churches is taken into account, and the question as being anxiously asked, why is it?

The Lutheran Monthly states that the Lutheran church throughout the world in four years, from 1900 to 1904, has had an increase of 1,144 pastors, 6,847 churches, 4,887,726 baptized members, 6,561 parochial schools and 1,805 deaconesses. The increase in North America during this period has been 534 pastors, 722 churches, 1,102,300 members, 1,208 parochial schools. The totals for the Lutheran church in the world are: Pastors, 11,540; churches, 57,033;

The Baptist Young People's Union of America is in financial straits and there have been reports that it might disband. Such a conclusion must not come about, declare Baptists in the west, where the union is far stronger than in the east. To let the union die, they say, would be a disgrace to the Baptist denomination.

It is fifteen years since the union was established, a part of the young people's movement in all bodies, and like some of the others it was intended to stem the tide which was setting toward Christian Endeavor. The last name I got into the field ten years earlier than the union, and in the east it is still in many Baptist churches. Under vigorous leadership five or six years ago the Young People's Union helped no a little in bringing about a better feeling between Baptists, north and south.

The union got into financial difficulties through expense incurred in publishing a periodical. It has needed for $14,000 to pay debts, and for $10,000 a year to keep it going. A voluntary committee has just met and has decided to bring the union into closer touch with the missionary organization of the Baptist body, if possible, and to make a final effort to put the organization on its feet. Canadian and southern Baptists are interested, but they were not represented at the recent meeting. The union does educational work, and, speaking broadly, works for the same ends and by similar methods as Christian Endeavor. As its name implies it is for the young people of the churches, but the rule is not strictly enforced.
